

Buddha Family Regression Journal

After Listening to the Buddha Family Regression, free write for 10-min and write down what you remember from your journey. Use these prompts as needed to inspire your writing.

1. What was your overall experience doing the Buddha Family Regression? What stood out to you most?
 - a. What did you notice about the last few days? Any instances of the encumbered patterns of the Buddha Family?
 - b. What did you notice about the last few months? What did you notice about your tendencies to go into the encumbered patterns of the Buddha Family? Any triggers?
 - c. What did you notice about the last year?
 - d. What did you notice scanning back through your adult life? Did you notice times when perhaps the Buddha family encumbered patterns was stronger than others?
 - e. What did you notice about the Buddha family pattern in your teenage years? Your late teens to early adolescence? Did you notice anything about high school, junior high school. What are you doing at this time?
 - f. What did you notice about your childhood? Your parents or siblings? Experiences at school or with friends?
 - g. What did you notice about being a toddler and a young child? Four, three, two-years old? A year old? Learning to walk? Did you see anything about the Buddha family patterns showing up within your family?
 - h. Did you notice anything about being a baby? Did you notice anything about the roots of this encumbered pattern?
 - i. What did you notice about your birth? About the time in your mother's womb? What was going on with your parents at this time? How does it feel to be in your mother's womb?
 - j. What did you notice about the time of conception? How was this encumbered pattern present at this time?
2. What was something new you noticed, saw, learned, or had an insight about that you've never seen or thought of before?

